The Ever Home Certified Home Partner

Setting the standard for home care done right

There is no state license for what a Home Partner does: caring for the whole home, visit after visit, for a homeowner who deserves to stay in the place they love. So we built the certification ourselves, and we hold it to a standard we would proudly explain to any family, any attorney, and any professional who asks. No one visits an Ever Home client's driveway until they have earned it.

Every Home Partner is a W-2 employee, or managing partner of Ever Home: background-checked across multiple states, insured, trained on this certification, and assigned to your home with the aim of building trust each and every visit. We do not send strangers, and we do not use gig labor.

What Every Home Partner Masters

- The six systems of a home: air and comfort, roof and envelope, water and plumbing, power and backup, grounds and drainage, pests and moisture
- Gulf South seasonal care, including hurricane readiness before, during, and after storm season
- A structured, documented visit: every task photographed and reported to your family portal within 24 hours
- Communicating with older adults with patience, clarity, and genuine respect
- Firm professional boundaries: we care for the home, never the person, and we know exactly when a licensed specialist is the right call

How Certification Is Earned

1. Multi-state background screening, sex offender registry, and driving record checks: before training even begins
2. A written examination on every part of our training program, where safety and boundary questions must be answered perfectly, not just passed
3. Supervised training visits alongside a certified Home Partner, progressing from observing to leading
4. A full evaluation visit conducted solo, assessed start to finish by an evaluator
5. Annual recertification, ongoing seasonal training, and regular quality audits of every Home Partner's work

Why It Matters to Your Family

When the same certified professional walks through your door, or through the door of a loved one, on a schedule you can count on, notices the small things before they become big ones, and shows you everything through the family portal, worry gets replaced by knowledge. That is the standard we built, because your family deserves nothing less.
